

Please read me

For my birthday in 2023, I designed a series of photos that people can make into postcards by adding their messages. The pictures don't have my name on them so that people can use them for their purposes in the best possible way.

You can read more about the pictures in my blog article

A YouTube link is attached to the article, where Chris explains how you can use plugins in the free image processing program Gimp.

Texts you can add to the picture, for example, by using GIMP or free PhotoScape:
